

What does a zero matter!

There was also the woman who had fallen in love with the Hepatica x media 'Rötgersbüttler Röschen' and absolutely wanted to buy it. This cross of Marlene Ahlburg was actually not yet in the official sale, but as it is then so usual with "Liebhaberstücken", one could nevertheless give out. We had written a high price on this plant, after all 1000,-€, the lucky lady looked at two other "Japanese" and put them in her basket. With happy shining eyes the customer came to the cashier and wanted to pay. My perennial assistant Christiane (only she and I are allowed to propagate and look after the Hepatica in our company) did the checkout this time and calculated 1500,-€ for the three special varieties. The customer was astonished when she heard the sum and asked quite puzzled where the high price came from? Christiane explained to her the prices and that they were on the labels. Oh, I guess I didn't really notice all the zeros on the special variety. You know, I am so in love with the three varieties; what does a 0 matter! Paid!

Ging was satisfied with herself and the world, she had treated herself.

Translated with www.DeepL.com/Translator (free version)

